Ike May Speak Before Joint Session Friday

Wants to Outline His New 'Doctrine' for Middle East

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower advised congressional leaders today he would like to appear personally before a joint session of Congress Friday to outline the new "Eisenhower doctrine" for the Middle East.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democratic congressional leaders today indicated they will go along with President Eisenhower's proposal to use money and troops, if necessary, to stop Russian penetration of the Middle East.

But they made clear they will first subject the plan to long, cold study and that it will not clear Congress with the same ease as did the blank-check authority which Congress granted Mr. Eisenhower two years ago for defending Formosa.

Democrats also expressed resentment that the new "Eisenhower Doctrine" for shielding the Middle East from Communism was "leaked" to the press before they were consulted about it.

Official Word Tuesday

They received their first official word of the plan Tuesday during a four-hour conference with the President at the White House. Mr. Eisenhower met with both Republican and Democratic congressional leaders to discuss foreign policy matters which he will lay before the new Congress.

The President told the congressional leaders, according to a White House statement, that the Middle East is "a vitally important area." He asked that "Congress join with him in serving notice to the world that the United States would resist any Communist aggression in that area."

The statement said Mr. Eisenhower specifically asked for:

—Prompt action by Congress on a resolution "designed to deter" Russian penetration of the Middle East.

—An "enlarged program of economic aid" to bolster Middle Eastern nations.

Mr. Eisenhower promised to spell out his proposal in greater detail in a special message on the Middle East which he will send to Congress shortly after it convenes at noon Thursday. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not know whether Mr. Eisenhower would go before Congress in person to submit the message.

Democratic Attitude Differs

A number of Democratic congressional leaders endorsed the President's proposal after the White House meeting ended but others were reluctant to commit themselves until they heard more details of the plan in the President's special message.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said the proposal "will be a very fine thing if we can have a proper explanation of it and practical unanimity in Congress." He said it would not be wise to act on the President's recommendation if

Three Phone Cables Slashed In Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, O. (UP)—Police today reported three telephone cables were slashed during the New Year's holiday in the nearly six - month - old Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. strike.

The cables were cut in the Hilltop and east end residential districts and the west end business district.

The violence was the first reported in more than a week and comes two-and-a-half weeks after the exchanges were reopened following a two-month blackout.

Company officials ordered the exchanges closed Oct. 15 after demonstrations were held outside of the exchange buildings. The exchanges were reopened Dec. 15 after police set up barricades around the building and took riot training courses.

The New Boston exchange, closed at the same time the exchanges here were shut down, remained closed but company officials promised to reopen them "in a week or two."

Negotiations between the company and the union are scheduled to resume in Columbus next week.

USW Opens Regional Meetings in New York

PITTSBURGH (UP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald journeys to New York City today to prepare for the opening session of a union experiment in regional top-to - bottom conferences.

McDonald and other top leaders of the USW will meet with representatives of the union's New York state and New England districts Thursday and Friday at the Roosevelt Hotel. The talks will mark the first formal conference between international leaders and district officials on a regional level in the 20 year history of the 1,200,000-member union.

Five similar regional meetings are planned to permit top leaders from Pittsburgh international headquarters to discuss with workers in the field the USW's three-year contract negotiated with the steel industry last summer. The conferences will also map the union's future action.

McDonald, who is being challenged for the $50,000-a-year presidency in the union's February elections, may also use the sessions to organize the "regulars" against a rebel faction headed by McKeesport, Pa., millhand Don C. Rarick.

The regional conferences were scheduled shortly after a rank-and-file group protesting an increase in dues from $3 to $5 a month announced it would run candidates against McDonald and other international officers.

"WHAT DO YOU KNOW, JOE?" — Tiny Joseph William Pallini, weighing in at six pounds and four ounces, was the first and only baby born yesterday, New Year's Day, at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pallini, of 1605 Sycamore street, Monessen. The nurse is Mrs. James Destefano, of Belle Vernon.

Two New Year's Babies Born to Area Mothers

Joseph William Pallini bears the distinction of being the only baby born on New Year's Day at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pallini, of 1605 Sycamore street, Monessen, "Little Joe" arrived in the world at 9:11 yesterday morning. He tipped the scales at six pounds and four ounces.

Joe and his mother are doing nicely — so is "Big Joe".

A New Year's Day baby was born at Monongahela Memorial Hospital. A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Bavuso, of R. D. 3, Monongahela.

A Belle Vernon father, David Lucas, of 929 Fayette road, received a $600 tax exemption when his wife gave birth to a girl at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital on Dec. 31, about 15 hours before the 1956 income tax deadline.

Another tax-exemption baby was born to Gaston Lebois, of California. The boy arrived at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital at 7:23 p. m. the day before New Year's.

Budapest Flash Riot Crushed

VIENNA (UP)—Hungarian police and militia crushed a flash riot against Communist strongarm methods today by driving their trucks into a shouting, jeering crowd of 2,000 shoppers in Budapest.

The demonstration began in front of a state-run department store which opened its doors for the first time since the Hungarian rebellion started in October. It was broken up by powerful police and militia forces within a half hour.

Police used their clubs, but not their guns. The initial group of policemen on the scene was unable to cope with the anger of the crowd. But when reinforcements arrived, they drove their trucks straight into the ranks of the demonstrators and scattered them.

Holiday Traffic Toll Is Below Expectations

By UNITED PRESS

The natibn set a new record for highway deaths during the New Year's holiday today but it fell far short of the grim predictions of safety experts.

It appeared the final toll for the holiday would be about 420, considered "normal" for a four-day weekend at this time of year. This compared with the National Safety Council's predictions of 490.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said motorists and law enforcement officers "teamed up to make our pre-holiday estimate way high."

"Our thanks and congratulations to them for proving us wrong," Dearborn said.

Nevertheless, the death toll topped the old mark for a four-day New Year's holiday. This was 407, set in 1952-53.

A United Press count at 11 a.m. EST showed 409 persons killed in traffice from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday. Another 61 persons died in fires, 5 in plane crashes and 111 in miscellaneous mishaps for an overall toll of 586.

California Leads Nation

California, which had the worst record in the nation with 73 deaths during the Christmas holiday, again led with 38 highway deaths. Texas came second with 34, followed by Pennsylvania with 24, Michigan 23, Illinois 21, Ohio 19, North Carolina 16 and New York 15.

Dearborn appealed to "every driver and every traffic agency to make this encouraging achievement a guidepost to 1957."

"If we can do it for four days, we can do it for 365, he said.

Dearborn credited the low New Year's holiday traffic count in part to the record Christmas weekend slaughter of 712 persons which helped shock the nation's motorists back into highway sanity.

Other factors listed by Dearborn were:

"Magnificent law enforcement" across the nation which saw police give up their holiday leaves

Child of Former Fayette City Resident Victim

The two-year-old daughter of a former Fayette City man, William Trezise, Jr., died of pneumonia in Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, Ky., as a result of an auto accident when the car in which she was riding with her parents and grandmother skidded on an icy road, turned over and landed in a creek in Lexington, it was learned today.

The parents were unable to get their daughter, Linda Kay, out of the partially submerged car in time and she was drenched. She died 24 hours later.

Trezise, his wife and daughter and his wife's mother, Mrs. Kate Crockett, were enroute to their home in Nashville, Tenn., after spending the Christmas holidays with Trezise parents, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Trezise, of Fayette City.

Mrs. Crockett was slightly injured, accordking to reports received in Fayette City. Trezise and his wife were drenched but escaped injury.

The accident occurred early Sunday morning, Dr. Trezise said. Linda Kay will be buried in Nashville.

800 to Be Laid Off In Donora This Week

Although the three-week railroad strike ended in Donora on Dec. 1, it still is having its effects on operations at U. S. Steel's American Steel & Wire Division plant.

A spokesman for the company said today that approximately 800 workers in eight separate departments will be laid off this week as a result of a temporary shutdown due to lack of orders.

The spokesman reported that the Donora Southern Railroad strike of last month was the initial factor in the loss of orders. He said some of the orders booked for the Donora plant last month had been given to other plants of U. S. Steel.

"We have to get more orders before we can operate on a normal schedule," he said.

The departments affected include the cleaning house, wire mill, straight and cut, galvanizing, bundling room, nail mill and electric weld and shipping.

Only the rewinding section of the bundling room will be in operation during the shutdown. The nail mill, galvanizing and electric weld departments will be shutdown completely, but a token force will operate in the shipping department.

The spokesman said all of the men affected who wish and are eligible for 1957 vacations, may take part of the vacation next week or during the shutdown. This will prevent a loss of wages in January, he stated.

$10,000 Fire Damage In Allenport Plant; Operations Normal

B&O Probe to Find Reasons for Fatal Collision

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UP)—Baltimore & Ohio Railroad officials started an investigation today to determine why two freight trains traveling in opposite directions were routed over a single line track at the same time.

The trains, hauling a total of 314 cars, collided headon Tuesday, killing three crewmen and injuring five others. Both locomotives and 41 cars left the rails and piled up along the right of way.

The collision occurred 11 miles west of here along the Potomac River near the Maryland border.

The men killed were riding in the diesel locomotive of an eastbound train hauling 145 loaded freight cars and nine empty cars from Cumberland, Md., to Brunswick, Md.

Their train, believed traveling at about 25 miles an hour, crashed into a freight with 160 empty coal cars westbound from Cumbo, W. Va., to Keyser, W. Va.

The dead were F. B. Phillips, Lovettsville, Va., engineer; L. R. Holler, Boonsboro, Md., fireman, and J. C. Beard, Brunswick, head brakeman.

The injured were brought to King's Daughter Hospital here.

The movement of passenger trains, which use two other lines in the area, was not affected by the wreck.

Breth Retains Seat Pending Vote Challenge

HARRISBURG (UP)—Veteran Democratic Rep. Harris G. Breth (Clearfield) today retained his seat in the 1957 Legislature pending a challenge to his eight-vote victory in the Nov. 6 election.

Breth, chairman of the House Conservation and Wildlife Committee in the last session when the Democrats were in control of that chamber, was reelected by the slim margin in the fight for Clearfield County's first legislative district seat. He was ruled the winner over Republican William C. Chase by Clearfield County Court, but Chase has filed exceptions with the court.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) told the chamber at Tuesday's opening day session that Chase plans to contest Breth's seat and the matter will be submitted to the appropriate House committee before Jan. 11. The house has the final word in the seating of its members.

"It is the position of the Republican leadership that the seating of Breth at this time does not affect the right of Chase to make the contest," Johnson said.

Wholesale Food Prices Are Up

NEW YORK (UP) — Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. index for Jan. 1, rose to $6.13, up one cent from the previous week's figure of $6.12, the agency reported today.

The index compared with $5.95 in the similar week of 1955, a 3.0 per cent gain.

Reflecting the sum total of the price per pound of 31 foods in general use, the index showed eight advances, four declines and 19 prices unchanged from a week ago.

Locker Room Section Near Finishing Department Razed

Fire broke out in the locker room near the No. 4 tube mill at the Allenport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. shortly before noon yesterday causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

The fire roared through the locker room building, adjacent to the mill section destroying the interior. The flames almost reached the roof.

Flames spread to the No. 5 mill's finishing department, inflicting some damage there.

Firemen said the blaze struck about 11:20 a. m. while the mill was "down" for New Year's Day. Only construction workers and a craneman were working in the finishing department.

The craneman, Joe Noel, spotted the fire and sounded the alarm. The men attempted to beat out the flames, but were unsuccessful.

Four Companies

The Allenport firemen extinguished the blaze at 2 p. m. Charleroi, California and Stockdale firemen answered the alarm, but were not needed.

The fire damaged electrical machinery but the necessary repairs were made before the mill resumed operations at midnight.

The intense heat of the flames broke windows in the skylight at the No. 5 mill. The windows were covered with tarpaulin today to protect workers from the cold.

P. E. Sance, vice-president of operations, said the mill resumed regular operations at the beginning of the midnight shift.

Sance praised the work of the firemen. He said:

"As usual, we owe quite a lot to the volunteer fire companies in this area for their quick work in putting out the fire."

Origin of the fire has not yet been determined, according to Allenport Fire Chief John Coiditz, who estimated the damage.

Dent Fires at Leader's Civil Service Proposal

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader's proposal for extension of civil service to state employes has drawn the fire of one of his top legislative leaders.

The governor said in his "State of the Commonwealth" message Tuesday he was now "firmly convinced that the government of this state cannot be administered in this complex technological society by the methods of patronage as usual."

But Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) took sharp exception to the governor's remarks in a speech on the Senate floor.

"Extension of civil service would destroy partisan politics," he said. "When you defeat partisan politics you destroy democratic government as we know it. I do not believe partisan politics has taken a holiday. It will be with us as long as this democracy survives."

The veteran legislator also called on the Republican majority to support his plan for establishing state - supported scholarships in each of the liberal arts colleges in Pennsylvania "to open up new horizons of service to the people."

Quiet Holidays In Area, State Police Report

"We had one of the most quiet Christmas and New Year's holidays within memory, Cpl. Karl Delbrook, of the State Police in Belle Vernon, said today.

Delbrook said despite the heavy vehicular traffic on Christmas, New Year's eve and day, no major accidents were recorded.

He complimented motorists for their safe driving.

Only one accident occurred in Monessen on New Year's Day, according to Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka.

He said a car operated by Marco Egidi, Jr., of 1040 Athalia avenue, skidded on an icy spot, went out of control and crossed over two lawns on Grand boulevard, shearing off a gas meter on the lawn of Eugene Babinski, of 2037 Grand boulevard. The other lawn damaged belongs to Page Feighner, of Grand boulevard.

Workers from Peoples Natural Gas Co. quickly repaired the damaged meter.

The accident occurred at 4:20 a. m. yesterday.

'Small World' Better Adage Pickpocket Says

NEW YORK (UP)— You can have that adage about "there being safety in numbers," as far as Jose Torres is concerned. He's sold on the one that says "it's a small world." Too small, in Torres' case.

Several years ago, Torres, 27, of Chester, N.Y., a convicted pickpocket, was spotted in rather embarrassing circumstances by Sgt. Neil Behan and Detective Patrick O'Brien, who know Jose well. At the time, several days before Christmas, Jose was in a crowded midtown store — and also in a woman's purse, according to police.

For this, he got six months.

Early Tuesday, Jose, who police describe as the city's only known commuting pickpocket, was one of some 500,000 persons welcoming in the New Year in Times Square.

In such a gathering, Jose deemed it unlikely indeed that any detectives — and especially Behan or O'Brien — would observe him in operation. But long shots do happen.

Police said Jose had just dipped into a lady's purse when Behan and O'Brien happened on the scene. Commented Behan, "It's a small world, Jose, isn't it."

Ice Floes Batter Big Polar Supply Vessel

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (UP)—The U.S. Navy cargo ship Arneb, water pouring in through her damaged plates and her propellor broken, lay helpless today in the grip of two giant ice floes. Standing nearby in the icepack but unable to aid her was the ice-breaker Northwind.

Winds of hurricane force drove the ice pack of Moubray Bay out to meet the Ross Sea icepack and trapped the 12,800-ton Arneb between them near Cape Hallet New Year's Eve.

The grinding pressure cracked open the Arneb's previously damaged hull plates, broke a propellor blade and damaged the reduction gear which transmits turbine power to the ship's twin screws.

The cargo ship, with 218 officers and men aboard, was on its way to land supplies for the joint U.S.-New Zealand International Geophysical Year base 500 miles north of McMurdo Sound.

The Coast Guard icebreaker escort Northwind radioed that the massive icefield, estimated to cover 200 square miles, had reduced its own operational ability and so far it was unable to maneuver to free the Arneb or relieve the pressure on her.

The message said all pumps from both ships were in constant use trying to control flooding aboard the Arneb. The cargo ship's crew was trying to move cargo from the number two hold in order to repair damage to the hull.

The Northwind said the ice floes extended 50 miles out to sea and as far up and down the coast as a reconaissance helicopter could see.

Egypt Cancels British Suez Treaty

Major Setback to Military Defenses of Western Nations

LONDON (UP) — Egyptian abrogation of the Anglo-Egyptian Suez Canal treaty will deny to the West the use of the strategic Suez bases against Russia in the event of war, Cairo dispatches said today.

The loss amounted to a major setback for Western military defenses since the treaty was linked up with NATO by giving Britain the right to reactivate the Suez base in case of an attack on Turkey by Russia or any other nation.

At the same time, the Egyptian press began discussing the proposed "Eisenhower Doctrine." Newspapers said America's proposed economic aid to the Mideast concealed the purpose of aligning the Arab countries with the West and said such a purpose was unacceptable to the Arabs.

The canal treaty, signed in 1954, called for evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal Zone but gave Britain the right to send troops back to the zone in case of an attack on any Arab state or Turkey.

The treaty specifically excluded an attack by Israel, and the Anglo-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone was not carried out under the treaty.

In other Middle Eastern developments:

CAIRO: The semi-official Mideast News Agency reported from Amman that Jordan's King Hussein will go to Cairo shortly to sign an agreement whereby Jordan will accept Egyptian, Syrian and Saudi Arabian offers of cash to replace Britain's annual $30 million subsidy.

LONDON: Indian roving Ambassador V. K. Krishna Menon left by plane for New York after talks with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. Krishna Menon said he was able to "offer some guidance" on Egypt's policy in the Middle Eastern crisis.

CAIRO: The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported that Egyptian army engineers have completed repairs on the El Qantara - El Arish railway through the Sinai Desert. Repairs to the railroad will permit the return of the Egyptian army to the Sinai.

TEL AVIV: Premier David Ben-Gurion was reported to have told U.S. Ambassador Edward Lawson that further withdrawal from the Sinai Desert will depend on guarantees that Israel will be able to navigate the Red Sea. Israel still holds the Egyptian fortress of Sharm El Sheikh from which Egyptian artillery molested Israeli shipping.

Bus Service Is Ordered Halted In Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—Bus service was stopped here today by order of Gov. Leroy Collins who feared a flareup of racial violence would result from an anti-Jim Crow campaign by Negro leaders.

Collins issued the order late Tuesday under a law empowering him to halt the buses to "protect public safety." Today's bus runs were cancelled. No buses ran Tuesday because of the holiday.

Violence which has cropped up repeatedly at the South's other two bus integration fronts in Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala., spread to Tallahassee Tuesday in the form of shooting and rock-throwing.

A shotgun blast damaged a Negro's grocery store and someone hurled rocks at four Negro homes, including the home of the Rev. C. K. Steele, a leader of the Negro movement to integrate the buses here.

In Birmingham, city officials were considering changing the charges against 21 Negro defendants accused of violating laws requiring segregated buses. The Negroes were expected to press the cases in hopes for a federal court decision ruling the segregation laws unconstitutional.

The Montgomery buses were forced to accept integration as a result of a Supreme Court ruling in such a case.

18 Poles on Trial For Part in Riot

RYBOGOSZCE, Poland (UP) — Eighteen Poles went on trial today for destroying local radio station last month when they heard reports it was being used to jam Western broadcasts to Poland.

Civil Rights Controversy Is Facing Members of Congress

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two disputes growing out of the national controversy over civil rights confronted Congress today on the eve of its new session.

The 85th Congress formally convenes at noon EST Thursday, but most members already were on hand and at work.

Democratic members of the House gathered this morning for a caucus to choose party leaders and minor officials for the new session. But the principal problem before them was whether to discipline two members—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (NY) and Rep. John Bell Williams (Miss) — who bolted the party in the November elections as a result of the civil rights issue.

Republican House members, with no real issue between them, caucus this afternoon.

In the Senate there was pre-session skirmishing on a drive to do away with filibusters, the main weapon used by southern members to kill civil rights legislation.

A group of pro-civil rights senators scheduled a morning meeting in the office of Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill) to work out strategy for their anti-filibuster move. Southern senators were meeting in the afternoon in the office of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) to map plans for fighting this move.

The pro-civil rights group will introduce a resolution Thursday that the Senate adopt a new set of rules instead of merely continuing those in effect during previous session. This would pave the way for modifying Senate Rule 22 which permits filibusters unless 64 senators—two-thirds of the entire membership—votes to cut off debate.

Russell said he expects both Democratic and Republican leaders to defend the idea that the Senate is a continuing body and that its present rules prevail. This happened in 1953 when a similar motion to change the rules on opening day was tabled by a 71-to-20 vote.

Change Proposal Gains Vote

Supporters of the anti-filibuster move gained a new adherent Tuesday night. Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky) said he would vote for the rules change.

In the House Democratic leaders predicted in advance of today's caucus that Powell and Williams would be accepted — though not universally welcomed — back into the party.

Powell, a Negro and a key figure in the drive for enactment of civil rights legislation, threw his support in November to President Eisenhower on the ground that Stevenson was too cautious on the civil rights issue.

Williams, a leader of the southern bloc opposed to racial integration, rejected both Stevenson and Eisenhower on the ground that they were too civil rights-minded. He supported a states rights third party ticket.

Army to Station 'Atomic Brigades' Around World

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army is considering stationing missile-armed atomic task forces at strategic points around the world.

The proposed powerful "atomic fire brigades" would be capable of rushing to the scene of any sudden Communist thrust.

The proposal, now in an advanced planning stage, is part of an Army reorganization scheduled to start early this year.

Under the master plan, the Army will pare about 60,000 men from its 19 combat divisions to give them the added mobility demanded by atomic warfare. Some of these 60,000 men would be put in atomic task forces of about 5,000 men each.

The units would be armed with such atomic weapons as the Corporal missile, which has a 50 to 75-mile range, and the Honest John rocket which has a 10 to 20 mile range. They also would have eight-inch artillery guns for which atomic shells now are being developed.

The atomic task forces could be stationed at such key points as Hawaii, Korea, and Alaska.

Consideration also has been given to using such fire brigades to bolster the vulnerable perimeter of the North Atlantic Treay Alliance. Such units, for instance, could be stationed in Scandinavia and Turkey to guard NATO's northern and southern flanks.

Show Extra Caution

The fact that motorists realized they might imbibe too freely during the "recognized drinking period" of the New Year's holiday, and therefore showed extra caution when they got behind the wheel.

The council feared at the start its traffic toll prediction might be too low. But it soon became apparent the motorists would upset the council's estimate.

The worst single traffic accident killed five persons in a headon crash near Rapid City, S.D., on New Year's Eve.

But holiday tragedy wasn't confined to the highways.

At Tyron, N.C., five children burned to death when they were trapped in a basement apartment during a fire that destroyed three homes. Firemen did not realize the children were in the building until it was too late.

Four children burned to death in a New Year's Day fire that destroyed their home near Santa Barbara, Calif. Their parents and two other children escaped with only minor burns.

Chances Good For Amendment To Refugee Act

WASHINGTON (UP) —Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) said today chances are "pretty good" that Congress will amend the Immigration Act opening U.S. borders to many more refugees fleeing Red tyranny.

Watkins is ranking GOP member of the Senate Immigration subcommittee.

Pending congressional action, the Justice Department under new orders from President Eisenhower already is preparing to bring in more Hungarian refugees under the stop-gap parole system which grants them only temporary residence.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon urged Tuesday that Congress give the administration "flexible authority" to bring in Hungarian and "other refugees from Communist prosecution."

He made the proposal to make America a haven for victims of Red tyranny in a report to the President on his pre-Christmas inspection of the Hungarian refugee camps and processing centers in Austria.

Watkins called Nixon's report "sound" and forecast it has a "pretty good" chance of getting through Congress. But he said a close fight is possible on some parts of the proposed program.

Stabbed Frisco Grid Star 'Fair'

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — Paul Carr, a star on the San Francisco 49ers professional football team who was stabbed in the heart at a New Year's Eve party, was reported in "fair" condition today.

James R. Chambless, a 25-year-old ex-convict and electrician was charged with stabbing Carr following an argument.

Police said Chambless drove the blade of a pearl-handled switchblade knife twice into the chest of the 25-year-old Carr. One thrust nicked his heart.

Leader Wants to Get Along with Legislature

Offers 'Olive Branch' to GOP Controlled Houses

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania's 1957 General Assembly will get down to the business of lawmaking next week after a harmonious organizing session in which both sides conceded Gov. George M. Leader offered the "olive branch" to the Republican majorities.

The Senate will reconvene Jan. 7 at 4 p.m. and the House a half hour later, for a probable two-day stand. At that time committees will be formed and other machinery will be set in motion for introduction of an expected flood of bills.

The traditional and colorful opening day ceremonies New Year's Day was highlighted by the governor's 6,500-word "state of the Commonwealth" message delivered before a joint session in the flower-decked chamber of the House of Representatives.

The governor, beginning the last two years of his administration, urged the Republican - controlled House and Senate to set aside partisan differences to develop constructive programs for Pennsylvanians. The hour-long message detailed his legislative proposals in virtually all phases of state governmental activities, with emphasis on highway and school building construction.

Top Republican leaders described the tone of the address as "conciliatory" in comparison to his inaugural address two years ago when he went into office with a Democratic-controlled House.

But while they pledged cooperation on any worthwhile administration legislation, they withheld outright support of programs in the message until he takes a position on what type of taxes should pay for them.

Await Tax Stand

Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom reflected the reaction of the GOP leadership with the comment that "little can be done to evaluate his present position until he discloses his plans for taxation."

"We are ready to work with him," Bloom said in a statement issued after the session. "However, we will not break the public trust by agreeing to any unfair or discriminatory forms of taxation."

The governor has given no hint on how he will handle the recent report of the bipartisan tax study committee which recommended a $250,000,000 revenue-raising package, including retention of the 3 per cent sales tax with fewer exemptions. His budget message is not expected to be ready for submission to the Legislature until late this month or early February.

The "olive branch" phrase was used by Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford) in describing the governor's address. He referred to the record 17-month session of the politically-divided 1955-56 Legislature and said "We should take a holiday from political bickering."

"I pledge to the Democrats if any barbed shafts are thrown out, the first will come from the other side," he said in a brief speech from the Senate floor. "We should let bygones be bygones and be ready to start a new day. We want to cooperate 100 per cent and are willing to sit down with him (the governor) to work out beneficial legislation."

No Choice For Governor

Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) said the governor had "no other road to travel...if we are to achieve anything this session due consideration must be given to the Republican majority and the administration."

In the House, Majority Leader Albert Q. Johnson (McKean) said he was "baffled by the enormity of the suggested program, without any way to pay the cost."

"It was a very conciliatory message contrasted to his inaugural speech which was caustic and made us mad," Johnson said. "I think he has grown up."

Before the governor delivered his message both chambers held separate sessions for organization, with Republican members elected to the top jobs. Rep. W. Stuart Helm (Armstrong) was installed as House speaker, and Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (Dauphin) to his seventh consecutive term as Senate president pro tempore.

Other Republicans were named to paid posts of chief clerk and secretary in each chamber.

Helm told the House his party would not "play the role of obstructionists" against the administration, but would oppose any plan that is "costly and unworkable regardless of its sponsorship."

Taylor said he considered his election "an exceptional honor" and he promised he would "respect the strength of the majority...and defend the rights of the minority" in the chamber.

The Republican leaders are split on the schedule of sessions for the balance of the month although they will recess the week of Jan. 14 because of the Pennsylvania Farm Show here and resultant lack of hotel accommodations.

The GOP senators want to quit after next week until Jan. 28. But their party colleagues in the House want to return Jan. 22, the day after President Eisenhower's inaugural which many Republican members plan to attend.

Rhode Island Court Ruling for Democrat

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—For three hours past the oath-taking time Tuesday an Inauguration Day crowd milled around the State House waiting to see who would be sworn in as governor of Rhode Island.

The suspense was not broken until 3 p.m. when it was announced that the incumbent, who had been "defeated" in the Nov. 6 election, would remain in office.

Thus Gov. Dennis J. Roberts was sworn in to an unprecedented fourth-term as chief executive at 5:30 p.m. as the result of the state Supreme Court's invalidation of absentee ballots that had given Republican candidate Christopher Del Sesto a 427-vote majority.

Rhode Island's highest court ruled that written votes cast by some absentee voters and shut-ins who were unable to go to the polls were invalid because they were postmarked before Nov. 6.

In doing so, the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional a constitutional amendment adopted by the legislature in 1953 giving absentee voters permission to cast notarized ballots "on or before" Election Day.

Roberts had enjoyed a 721-vote plurality until the absentee ballots were counted.

Del Sesto said he would not challenge the court's ruling and his campaign manager called him "a good loser."

But he showed some bitterness in his comment on the court's decision.

"Democracy received another setback in Rhode Island today," Del Sesto, a 49-year-old son of Italian immigrants, said.

Leader Claims State in Hunt For Engineers

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Commonwealth today began what Gov. George M. Leader described as "the greatest talent hunt in its history" for 1,500 professional engineers and engineering assistants.

"In this campaign," the governor said, "we are trying to compete with private industry for one of the most valuable, and one of the scarcest commodities on the market today — professional engineers. We must have these people if we are to carry out our plans for the improvement of state services in Pennsylvania."

The engineers are sought for the state Highways and Forests and Waters Departments.

Paul T. Anderson, chief of the Examinations Division of the Michigan Department of Civil Service, was hired as a 10-day consultant in the drive, with a compensation of $50 per day. George H. Marshall, of the state Bureau of Personnel, Office of Administration, will contact students and working engineers in visits to colleges and engineering societies.

UN Resuming Discussions on Pressing Problems

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The U.N. General Assembly ends its 10-day holiday recess today to take up the most pressing series of problems ever to face the international body.

The situations in Hungary and the Middle East remain foremost on the list of problems to be met during the New Year. Also slated for discussion at the earliest possible date are the British-Greek dispute over Cyprus, Algeria's demands for independence from France and a dispute between The Netherlands of Indonesia for control of Western New Guinea.

The future of Hungary was expected to be first on the agenda, although Asian and Arab delegates continued strong efforts to get priority for a debate on the Algerian issue.

A battle appeared to be shaping up for recognition of two Hungarian delegations to the assembly. Observers speculated that a delegation representing the Hungarian Communist government will challenge credentials of a delegation headed by Dr. Endre Sik later this week.

National Tube In Promotions

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two major operating appointments were announced today by the National Tube Division of U.S. Steel Corp.

Truman H. Kennedy, general superintendent of the division's National Works at nearby McKeesport since 1948, was appointed to a similar position at the Lorain, Ohio, Works.

Louis F. Sattele, assistant general superintendent at the Lorain Works since 1943, was named to succeed Kennedy as general superintendent at McKeesport.

Kennedy succeeded Robert Urquhart who was transferred from Lorain to the division's headquarters at Pittsburgh.

Governor Asks Senate to OK Four Appointments

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has asked the Republican-controlled state Senate to confirm appointments he made to four top-level state jobs since the adjournment of the last Legislature.

The governor sent the customary lengthy list of nominations to the Senate Tuesday shortly after the convening of the 1957 General Assembly.

The list included John F. Byrne, Philadelphia, a member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission; Joseph Sharfsin, Philadelphia, a public utility commissioner; Attorney General Thomas D. McBride, Philadelphia, and James A. Finnegan, Philadelphia, who returned last week to the post of secretary of the Commonwealth.

Byrne, a former Philadelphia councilman, was nominated for the turnpike job before the 1955-56 Legislature adjourned, but the Senate Executive Nominations Committee did not act on the request. When that Legislature adjourned last May 22 the governor immediately gave Byrne an interim appointment which provided the Democrats with a three-to-two majority on the Turnpike Commission.

THE PHONE BOOTH BOMB AND THE SUSPECT — Here are the phone booth bomb and the suspect picked up in the next booth in a New York shuttle subway, between Times Square and Grand Central. The suspect, Morris Ruben, is shown (left) in custody of a detective. Ruben had 92 dimes and a list of phone numbers which included many public officials. The "bomb," a dud, is shown as it was found. It is a six-inch length of two-inch pipe in a sock. Ruben admitted he made hoax bomb calls.

Police Checking Letters in Search For Mad Bomber

NEW YORK (UP) — Police checked scores of letters reporting "suspicious persons" today on the chance that one might lead to the mad bomber whose homemade explosives have set off a barrage of false bomb alarms across the nation.

While crank calls diminished here — only 12 were made Tuesday compared with a highpoint of 40 last Friday — they continued to spread nationally.

Fake threats Tuesday forced the evacuation of hundreds of movie patrons from theaters in Kansas City, Park Forest, Ill., and New Haven, Conn. All three threats proved unfounded.

At Philadelphia, a home-made pipe "bomb," containing a mixture of dough, chalk and baking soda, was found in a restaurant in the city's Mayfair section. Employes of the restaurant, who found the device, placed it in a pail of water until police arrived.

Police at New Britain, Conn., searched all buses of the New Britain Transportation Co. after an anonymous caller said he had planted a bomb in one of the buses. No bomb was found.

Soaking Pit Club Election

Paul Nagy was reelected to a third term as president and financial director of the Soaking Pit Welfare Club of Pittsburgh Steel Co., Monessen. He was unopposed.

John Scagaline, of Monongahela, was reelected to a second term as vice president and assistant financial director. John Pallini was reelected secretary and claims investigator. Trustees reelected were Herbert Frew, Dominick Griggiani, and Frank DeCurtis. Emil Forgac was elected a trustee.

Organized 13 years ago, the club pays sick, accident and death benefits.

Two Women Die In Stair Falls

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two women met death in similar accidents in their homes New Year's Day. Both suffered fatal injuries in falls down cellar stairs.

The victims were Mrs. Bertha Koch, 73, Forest Hills, and Margaret Janke, 39, McCandaless Twp.

Erie Dispatch Will Cease Publications

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—The Erie Dispatch announced today it will cease publication as a daily newspaper on Saturday, Jan. 5. The Sunday Dispatch will end publication with its edition of Jan. 6.

Publishers of the Erie Times, in a simultaneous announcement, said they had purchased the assets of the Record Publishing Co., publishers of the daily and Sunday Dispatch, and will launch a new morning newspaper on Jan. 7.

The Times Publishing Co. said the morning paper will be named the Erie Morning News and will be published six mornings a week. The Times' Sunday edition will be renamed the Times-News.

The Dispatch, which had been competing with the Times in the afternoon field, said it was forced out of business "because of inescapable economic laws." A front-page announcement in today's edition of the Dispatch said:

"Regrettable as this action might be for the many loyal and faithful subscribers of the daily and Sunday Dispatch, the action is forced upon us because of continued losses—losses of such magnitude that it is impossible to continue to absorb them."

In similar announcements, the Dispatch and Times said the purchase of the Record Publishing Co. assets was finalized Dec. 28. Frank Oswald, executive vice vice president of Edward Lamb Enterprises, represented Lamb, the Dispatch publisher, in negotiations with John and George Mead, co-publishers of the Times. Lamb, Toledo, Ohio, also operates WICU-TV and radio station WIKK in Erie.

The Dispatch boasted a history of nearly 150 years as a "family newspaper" in the Erie area. It began publication as the Erie Gazette in 1820.

According to Oswald, the sale of the Record Publishing Co. was dictated by the economic facts of life in the publishing business.

The Times management stated they felt the newspaper reading requirements of the Erie area could best be served by a morning and evening newspaper and that it will be possible to maintain such an operation under the economics of a single plant operation.

The Times said it was launching the new morning newspaper with confidence and that the News will be "completely autonomous and independent editorially" from the Times.

The new morning paper will be designed by Gilbert Farrar, a leading type expert. The Times management said the News will feature sports, women's, financial, and county news, carry a complete financial page, and offer a complete lineup of nationally known columnists, features and comics.

About 200 employes of the Dispatch were affected by the sale. A Times spokesman said some of the Dispatch employes will be carried over for the new publication.

How to Sober Up

NEW YORK (UP)—Asked by his rescuers why he chose to high-dive into the icy East River early Tuesday, Joe Galante, 44, explained "It's the best way I know to sober up."

Khrushchev Claiming Reds Still 'Stalinists'

MOSCOW (UP) — Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev told a New Year's Eve reception that Russians were still "Stalinists" in the fight against imperialism and that Russia will strengthen its army as long as the Western arms race continues.

Diplomats who attended the reception reported today that the 600 persons presented applauded loudly when Khrushchev, leader of the de-Stalinization campaign, praised the former premier for fighting "against our class enemies."

Khrushchev also said Russia will buildup its armed forces as long as the capitalist countries are "feverishly" building up their own military forces, the diplomats said.

Khrushchev ranged over ideological questions and the international situation. He said Russia alone halted the war in the Mideast and he said "We cannot forget that a number of capitalist countries are conducting a feverish arms race."

Western diplomats, led by the United States, Britain and France, boycotted the reception in protest against Soviet intervention in Hungary.

(Diplomatic observers in London noted this was the first pro-Stalin comment from Khrushchev or any other top Soviet official since the "de-Stalinization" program of last February.

(Some sources believed it meant the Kremlin was returning to the Stalinist iron discipline as result of the Hungarian revolution, the independence movement in Poland, unrest in the satellites and student demonstrations in Russia itself.

The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party was believed to have discussed a return to Stalinist principles at its secret meeting last week.

Youth May Lose Sight of His Eye

MERCER, Pa. (UP) —Doctors worked today to save the sight of a Mercer boy injured when he welcomed in 1957 by a firing his new rifle at midnight New Year's Eve.

The weapon—a Christmas present from his parents — backfired and sent scraps of metal tearing at his face.

The boy, Clemens Jackson, 14, suffered deep gashes on the left eye, cheek and ear. Two fingers on his left hand were severed.

Eisenhower's Plan For Middle East

AT THIS WRITING, President Eisenhower's plan to have the United States underwrite the peace and stability of the Middle East has not yet been officially announced with all the i's dotted and the t's crossed. What we have been reading about the plan so far has come from anonymous, although undoubtedly reliable, sources in the White House and the State Department.

But in some respects this idea is not as startling as it is made to seem when one reads a headline like: "Ike to Ask Troop OK". For in a broad sense the United States has for some time been underwriting the peace and stability of the whole world. Nobody has been in any doubt at all that any major conflict anywhere on the globe, particularly one launched by Soviet Russia, would find the United States directly and immediately involved.

What the President seems to have in mind about the Middle East is a specific American commitment that would put the world on formal notice of the willingness of the United States to guarantee the security of the Middle East as it has already guaranteed, through NATO, the security of Western Europe.

There is, however, a peculiar condition in the Middle East which does not exist in Europe. And this is the ancient blood-feud between Moslem and Jew, between the Arab nations and Israel.

This feud has given Communist Russia a continuing opportunity to make trouble in the Middle East without taking much risk. And the foolish action of Britain and France in attacking Egypt over the Suez Canal dispute has been a real boon to the Soviet meddlers.

We will be interested to learn what President Eisenhower has in mind to have the U. S. do about the Arab-Israeli conflict, specifically whether he proposes that we in effect step between these two ancient enemies and protect them from each other.

Also to be spelled out is the manner in which the new U. S. policy is to be related with United Nations activities. It will need to be clear, it seems to us, that our actions are always within the spirit and the structure of the U. N. Charter.

That the United States, the acknowledged leader of world opinion, ought to use its prestige and power to promote peace and stability wherever that can be done is surely now beyond argument. The specific arrangements for doing this in particular areas call for statesmanship and diplomacy of a very high order.

Still Feuding

THE CHRONIC URGE of the Republicans in Pennsylvania to beat themselves when the Democrats aren't beating them appears still to be intact. The Republican state senators had to split into the two old factions in choosing the Senate's officers for the new Assembly session.

Rank and file Republicans have been disgusted by this silly feuding for a long time. They registered their disgust in emphatic fashion in the November election when they defeated U. S. Sen. James H. Duff, who had made a whole career out of incessant personal battles with other Republican leaders.

We are not suggesting that political parties need perfect harmony at all times in order to be effective instruments of government. They must be able to accomodate differing points of view as well as personal incompatibilities.

But the major Republican leaders of Pennsylvania, with some exceptions, have put the guerilla conflicts among their factions before the good of their party. And they have thereby diminished its effectiveness.

These leaders should put away their little hatchets and BB guns and get down to the real business of a responsible political party.

Another Chance

THE STATE ASSEMBLY will have another chance at its forthcoming session to correct a long-standing discrimination against third class cities in Pennsylvania.

For 34 years — ever since 1922 — the state constitution has permitted municipalities to choose their own forms of government under terms laid down by the Assembly. But although the Assembly has passed the necessary enabling legislation for boroughs, townships and other cities, it has failed to do so for the third class cities.

These cities, no less than townships and boroughs, should be allowed to adopt the council-manager form of government if their citizens so choose. But bills which would make this possible have regularly been buried in Senate committees even though such a bill passed the House at the last session.

It's time now to remove this obstacle to progressive municipal government in Pennsylvania.

Merry-Go-Round—

Bouquets for Deserving Americans

By DREW PEARSON

As the old year ends and the new begins, this writer, better known for his brickbats than for his bouquets, would like to pay tribute to some of the people, big and little, who have worked to make democracy live. Here are some of them:

Mr. Pearson

Ex-Sen. Harry Cain of Washington, who got fired from the Subversive Activities Control Board for having the courage of his convictions in defending the unfairly accused. . . . Leon Ackerman, Florida-District of Columbia real estate dealer, for giving him a job. Ackerman is the man who takes full-page "God is Love" ads emphasizing what religion should mean to us. . . . Herbert Maletz of the House Judiciary Committee, who has exposed more conflicts of interest inside the government than any other one man. . . . Robert Sarnoff of NBC for working to put network facilities at the disposal of educational television.

Congressman Wright Patman, of Texarkana, Tex., for his unfailing crusade for small business. . . . Congressman Manny Celler of Brooklyn for his unfailing crusade against government inequity. . . . . Mrs. Almena Lomax of the Los Angeles Tribune, one Negro editor who rebuffed the lush Republican advertising contracts that so swayed the Negro press last election . . . . Mayor W. Fred Duckworth of Norfolk, Va., for working for his fellow men. . . . Dave Zinkoff of the Harlem Globetrotters, for showing European and Asiatic sports fans the part played by the Negro in American sports. . . . . John Coley of Alexander City, Ala., for his crusade to improve mental health. . . . Secretary of Labor Mitchell for his constructive job of rebuilding the Labor Department. . . . Harold Stassen for his persistent efforts to limit the weapons of war. . . . Chalmers Roberts of the Washington Post for his brilliant reporting of foreign affairs. . . . George Harrison of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, for backing the free labor unions of Europe in their battle against Communism.

Near East Diplomat

Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Producers, for his untiring efforts, despite terrific obstacles, to bring peace to the Near East. . . . Father John La Farge for his humanitarian editorials in the Jesuit publication "America" . . . Bob Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Investigating Committee, for his sometimes unrewarded attempts to investigate corruption and favoritism in government. . . . Eugene Holman, head of Standard Oil of New Jersey, for his work on behalf of the Crusade for Freedom. . . . Mrs. Rose Diamond of Philadelphia for her unsparing dedication to almost every local charity. . . . Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri for trying to expose the gas-oil lobby and for his thankless but constant championship of our constitutional freedoms. . . . Crosby Noyes of the Washington Star for his penetrating news reports from Europe. . . . Robert McKinney of Santa Fe and Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico for charting new peacetime horizons for atomic energy.

Dean Francis Sayre of the National Cathedral for inviting a Jewish congregation without a synagogue to hold regular services in his Episcopal cathedral. . . . . for putting new drive and determination into the Voice of America. . . . Congressional Predictions for 1957

As the 85th Congress of the United States meets tomorrow, here are predictions as to what will happen:

Eisenhower will enjoy a honeymoon with the Republicans. Former Republican critics of the President will go along with him as a result of the Eisenhower landslide. Senator Johnson of Texas will seldom buck the President, but there will be a steady drumfire of "I-don't-like-Ike" speeches from Northern Democrats who proved in Oregon that it pays politically to fire at the administration's heart — namely, the President himself. Senators Morse, Ore., Humphrey, Minn., McNamara, Mich., Carroll, Colo., will lead this attack. . . . Congress will finally pass a school bill after four long years of delay. . . . It will pass a civil rights bill guaranteeing Negro rights for the first time since after the Civil War. It will not change Senate rules regarding the filibuster. . . . Senator Fulbright of Arkansas will not be as passive toward Eisenhower foreign policies as retiring Senator George of Georgia. . . . Foreign aid will be put under the microscope, but will finally be appropriated, part of it under the guise of defense.

Middle East—Eisenhower Acts

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Eisenhower administration has decided to act boldly, riskfully and decisively to secure the peace in the Middle East.

The substance of this policy, it can be said authoritatively, has already been approved by the National Security Council and accepted by the President. Only the method of co-ordinating it with Congress remains to be settled.

Mr. Drummond

The intention is:

That the American government will offer to defend against Communist military aggression every nation in the Middle East which wishes to be so defended.

That this momentous new commitment by the United States shall be concurred in by Congress.

That Congress shall be asked to give its express authority to the President to use American forces to carry out this commitment if the necessity arises.

Grave Business

There should be no minimizing the gravity and magnitude of this resolute undertaking. It is similar in purpose and, to a degree, similar in nature to the NATO agreement to defend Western Europe against Soviet attack, but, unlike NATO, it deals with one of the most troubled and combustible areas of the world — an area fraught with almost perpetual danger. If this new policy is to be effective, it must have the support of Congress, and if it is to have steadfast congressional backing, it must have the understanding and support of the country. The following is intended to be a beginning appraisal of the causes, purposes and consequences of the new policy.

Question: Why did the President propose this commitment now?

Answer: Because the last stabilizing influence of Britain and France in the Middle East has been largely blunted by their military action against Egypt. Neither country today has the political acceptability nor the financial resources to do what needs to be done. This has created a political and military vacuum in the Middle East which the Kremlin has been lately showing every evidence it would like to fill — and take over.

Question: Are we proposing to defend these countries against their will?

Answer: No. The President will offer this shelter against possible Communist aggression to the entirety of the Middle East, and any nation which does not wish to be assured of this defense has only to hold up its hand and say — count us out. No formal military alliance or treaty arrangement is planned, certainly not for the present.

Question: How seriously would we view the consequences if the Soviet Union sought to extend its military control over one or more Middle East countries?

Answer: American officials believe it would be disastrous to the free world if Soviet armed force is leap-frogged into the Middle East. The Middle East could not withstand Soviet power by itself. If the Middle East fell under the sway of Soviet power, we believe that nothing could keep Western Europe from becoming a Soviet satellite because Middle Eastern oil is essential to the functioning of Europe's whole industrial life. The Kremlin could conquer Europe by conquering the Middle East.

This is why the United States is just as ready to fight to save the Middle East as Britain and France felt they were, although it is the President's deep conviction that force must not be used unilaterally against a nation, but only in association with a nation in its own defense.

Question: What is the heart and purpose of this new commitment?

Answer: Two things — it plugs the one major gap in the defense of the free world around the whole Soviet-Chinese Communist periphery, and its over-riding purpose is to prevent miscalculation by the Kremlin, the miscalculation that it can take military risks against the independent nations of the Middle East and expect the United States to stand idly aside. The intended executive - congressional declaration is to serve clear, candid, solemn notice that Russia would encounter the United States if it attacks any nation wishing our support.

Question: Are we risking war by making this commitment?

Answer: Yes. We are certainly risking war if we are not bluffing. It would be perilous to bluff. But the greatest risk of war is the war of miscalculation, and the Eisenhower administration is convinced that an announced declaration to defend the Middle East would be a far greater deterrent to war than it would be a risk of war.

The United States has resisted any British or French return to colonialism in the Middle East. We are now proposing to make it fully evident that we will defend the Middle East against Soviet colonialism. It is a risk to issue this warning. Mr. Eisenhower, Mr. Dulles and others hold that it is more riskful to fail to issue it.

Senate Showdown on Rule 22 Important

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower is being advised to keep hands off the angry Senate filibuster dispute which will begin shortly after 12 noon, Thursday, Jan. 3. Congress convenes at that hour.

It probably would be to the long haul political advantage of the Republican party if Mr. Eisenhower supported efforts to change the Senate filibuster rule and got the rule changed.

Mr. Wilson

The rule is No. 22 about which a great deal will be heard from Washington next month and thereafter. Rule 22 permits a Senate filibuster on any subject for so long as senators may desire unless 64 of them join in a vote to impose cloture. Cloture means closing and, in this instance, it would mean a closing of the filibuster.

It has proved impossible in practice to obtain such an absolute two-thirds Senate majority to close debate. It probably will be impossible in the future. Therefore, senators interested in enacting civil rights legislation in the up-coming 85th Congress seek a new approach to what some persons would regard as a gag on Senate debate.

Re-Adoption Opposed

These interested senators hope to prevent the Senate next week from re-adopting for the 85th session the rules which have been in force in one form or another during the preceding years. Specifically, they want to get rid of Rule 22.

The arguments for and against the adoption of new rules are technical as they have been stated so far. These technicalities will be explained in subsequent United Press stories. The realistic political questions involved are —Shall the Senate chan rules in such manner as t vent, the minority of so Democrats from organizing buster? A filibuster unquesti would prevent enactment o rights legislation. No rule c no civil rights legislation. I simple as that.

—Shall the southern and n ly Democratic states be de by a change in Senate ru the last important remain the power they once enjoyed in the Democratic party?

There has not been much discussion of this latter ph the filibuster dispute. These ever, are the facts:

For 100 years, or there until 1936, the states of t called solid South enjoyed power over nominations in cratic national conventions.

Ended With FDR

Franklin D. Roosevelt a political manager, James A ley, deprived the South o convention veto. At their mand the delegates, South included, voted to abandon t ditional convention rule t presidential nomination requ two-thirds vote. A mere m vote thereafter has been suf to nominate.

Senate Rule 22, however, ued to provide organized erners with a veto on congr al legislation.

Now it is proposed to Rule 22. The rule probabl survive. If it is abandoned ever, the New Deal-Fair Dea wing Democratic elements north will ram down so throats not only candidate South dislikes, but legislatio South detests.

If that comes to pass, lo a southern speed-up toward party system and a new U. S. politics in which not on publican presidential cand but congressional candidat well, may hope to carry so states and districts

People Want Scenery, Not Signs, on Roads

By MARGARET LATROBE

Looks like there was a wild joker in that cross-country highway deck dealt Congress a short while back. Billboards, we hear, may decorate this transcontinental marvel — all 41,000 miles of it.

The joker is this: no one in the federal government can stop the billboard brigade unless and until one more player enters the game. That player is the Public. And gentlemen, the game has just begun. Congress will get the word, lobbyists who greatly admire advertising placards as scenery will be told off sharply, and some fine legal print will be appended to the contracts stating loud and clear — No Billboards!

Mrs. Latrobe

Cyprus Parley Near

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Great Britain, Greece and Turkey may start negotiations soon on the future of Cyprus.

Britain, which holds the eastern Mediterranean island, has offered its people a constitution which would give them a measure of home rule and the hope that some time in the future they might get the choice of remaining in the British Commonwealth or leaving it.

Greece, which wants Cyprus, has rejected the proposed constitution as containing too many restrictions. So has the Greek Cypriot underground organization, which is waging a campaign of violence against British rule.

Turkey, which does not mind Britain keeping Cyprus but does not want Greece to have it, has said that the constitution as outlined might provide a basis for negotiation.

Greece, though it never has possessed Cyprus, lays claim to it on the ground that 400,000 of its 500,000 people are of Greek racial stock.

Turkey wants to protect the rights of the 100,000 Turks in Cyprus. It holds further 1) that Cyprus was Turkish until it came under British rule in 1878; 2 the island is only 43 miles the Turkish mainland an miles from the Greek mai Hence, Turkey holds, if th any change in the sovereignt Cyprus, Turkey should get it

Though Greece has reject proposed constitution, disp from Athens quote gover sources as saying it migh Britain and Turkey in tal Cyprus after a forthcoming in the United Nations.

This debate may come l January. Greece wants to that the people of Cyprus the right of self-determi Britain wants to air its that the Greek government porting the campaign of vi in the island. But the U.N take no action.

The Chiropractor And You

A NEW YEAR RESOLUTION

BY

Dr. Frank F. Tucci

Are you one among the vast number of persons who are neither feeling sick nor really feeling well?

Are you suffering more or less from chronic fatigue, nervousness, sleeplessness, indigetion, vague aches and pains, constipation, stiffness of the joints and a host of other seemingly minor complaints? Take heed These complaints are forerunners of more serious illnesses.

They are not to be accepted as the normal inevitable course of events They are nature's way of giving you ample warning to do something about it You could start the new year right by resolving to do something about it

The Chiropractic premise is that orderly body functions are necessary for good health Proper bodily functions are influenced by normal quantity and quality flow of vital nerve energy from the brain through the spinal cord and spinal nerve trunks to every cell and organ of the body.

Mis - alignments of the bony segments of the spine interrupts this normal flow resulting in an unbalanced distribution of vital nerve energy to the cells and organs. This disturbs function and eventually leads to a host of seemingly minor complaints as mentioned The longer the interference to nerve energy flow the more disturbed become functions and the more severe and serious are the resultant complaints

Chiropractic care offers a practical, natural, effective, common sense approach to protect your health from these serious threats Chiropractors locate and adjust the spinal cause of disease. It will PAY you to make a New Year Resolution to see a Chiropractor for your health problem.

MHS Cagers to 'Forget' Tournament

Coach Frank Janosik has advised his Monessen High basketballers to forget about their "sad-sack" showing in last week's Ford City tournament. "We lost nothing but prestige at Ford City," reasons Janosik. "Now with the league season set to start, we have to go to work." . . . Speaking of the Ford City show, Hube Rupert coach of the host Glassers, entertained rival coaches at his home on Thursday evening. As a matter of fact, opposing players and coaches got along so well together that it was almost impossible to get excited about the games . . . Financially the tournament was disappointing. There was a good crowd on hand for the opening night games, but the gym was only two-thirds full for the championship tussle.

Holy Name Men to Be Host to Hornung

District Holy Name men anticipate a big turnout for their banquet on Sunday, January 13, at Twin Coaches. The main speaker will be Paul Hornung, Notre Dame quarterback and Heisman Trophy winner . . . By the way, Charleroi sportscaster Frank Buscanics will serve as toastmaster for the affair, which will also include St. Vincent's Al DeLuca as a featured speaker . . . Pie Traynor, the Pirate immortal, has started a new "Hot Corner" series on KQV in Pittsburgh from 5 to 5:30 p. m. . . . The newly organized Westmoreland Ski Club will hold its first official meeting tomorrow at the American Legion Home in Jeannette. Skiers are invited to attend.

Ken Barbao, ex Donora High athlete, has decided to give up his professional baseball career. The 24 year old pitcher spent four seasons in the Pirate farm system, advancing as far as Class A ball. He injured his arm in the Eastern League last season and that helped to influence his "retirement." . . . No less than 700,000 boys participated in Little League baseball last season. They competed in 4,000 local leagues. According to LL headquarters in Williamsport, an even bigger program is expected this year . . . Roberto Clemente, Pirate outfielder, is hitting at a .400 clip with the Santurce club in the Puerto Rican League.

Duquesne Freshmen Reportedly Good

That terrible basketball beating Duquesne took in tournament play last weekend completes the school's "wrecking" project. However the word is out that Coach Dudey Moore is already rebuilding. Insiders claim the Duquesne freshmen team is better than the varsity right now. And the frosh are a lot bigger, too . . . Ed Syrek, one-time quarterback at Washington High, is earning quite a reputation as an artist. He's now studying at the University of Miami. On the side, Syrek plays the bass with a dance combo "just for the fun of it." . . . Big reason for Altoona's basketball success so far this season is Bill Ingram, a 6-9 center who can jump. He was successfully tied up, though, by Charleroi's Bob Boda in the Johnstown tourney finale the other night, with the result that the Cougars won easily.

Tourney Cage Champs Return To Play Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

North Carolina, Southern Methodist, and Baylor — champions in three of the biggest holiday basketball tournaments — return to the court wars in leading games on tonight's schedule.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 2 team with an 11-0 mark after capturing the Dixie Classic Tournament last week, is expected to have an easy time as host to Harvard.

But SMU, ranked No. 4 nationally with a 10-1 mark after winning the Southwest Conference pre-season tournament, faces a conference battle as host to Baylor. And Connecticut, winner of the Orange Bowl tournament, will be tested by Dartmouth's defending Ivy League champions.

The SMU-Baylor clash and a Texas Aggies-Rice game mark the opening of the official Southwest Conference league season. Also on tonight's program is the first round of the Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile, Ala.

In leading games Tuesday night: Ron Kramer, Michigan's star football end, scored 20 points to lead the Wolverine cage team in handing Yale its fifth straight defeat, 75-62; six-six Frank Howard's 22 points and 21 rebounds led Ohio State to an easy 84-77 victory over Princeton; six-four Ted Guzek scored 20 of his 32 points in the second half as Butler rallied to down Denver, 72-69; and Georgia edged Florida State, 72-68. In consolation games in the All-American City Tournament, Montana State trounced Iona College, 90-73, and Maryland edged Virginia, 43-39.

Gus Easily Crosses River Despite Scare

Gus Brickner, Charleroi's "human polar bear" was "scared stiff" yesterday as he stroked across the Allegheny River in sub-freezing temperatures at The Point in Pittsburgh.

But Gus was not concerned for his own safety. He was fearful that strong winds might upset the boat trailing him.

"Why one of the photograpers in that boat couldn't swim," said Gus after easily crossing the river in record time. "When that wind whipped up, I was afraid the boat might capsize."

Despite the wind and a snow squall which blotted out the shores, Gus crossed the river in six minutes and 22 seconds. That's eight seconds better than his previous mark set in 1954.

Conquers River

Three to four foot waves, lashed by the strong winds, were no match for the 44 year old steelworker who conquers the river each New Year's Day.

Brickner crossed the river at a point which measures 1,162 feet, roughly a quarter of a mile.

The water temperature was 32 degrees, which is as low as it can get. The air temperature was 17 degrees.

The entire swim was filmed by television cameras. It is supposed to be screened on the Pitt Parade program tonight at 6:45 o'clock over KDKA-TV.

A surprising turnout of several hundred persons watched the swim from the shores. At the end, they appeared "colder" than the dripping Gus.

Not to be outdone, David E. Nichols, 56, and his wife, Elizabeth, 53, splashed into the Monongahela river at noon in Pittsburgh. They take a dip each New Year's for a few minutes.

Polar Bears Keep Warm

While Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and Gus defied the elements, the polar bears at the Highland Park Zoo contented themselves with the warmth of their man-made caves.

"They didn't go near their private swimming pool," a zoo attendant said.

Brickner was happy with his 1957 dip.

"I have never received as much publicity for a swim," said Gus. "I hope all of this attention starts the ball rolling on a drive to finance my way to the English Channel."

Brickner and his entire family spent much of yesterday appearing on various television programs in Pittsburgh.

Bentleyville Tops In PNA Bowling

Bentleyville finished atop the the first half standings in the tight Mon Valley Ladies PNA Bowling League race which came to an end last weekend.

Bentleyville assured the top spot by taking two of three games from last place Charleroi. Arnold City wound up a game off the pace, clipping Monessen twice in a windup match. Monessen was third, three games behind the pacesetters.

Top scorers in the final matches were Catherine Sabolek (Arnold City) 166-379; Jenny Pavlik (Monessen) 125-361; Irene Kolbacki, (Charleroi) 152-395; Nellie Marshalek, (Bentleyville) 156; and Bea DeValle (Bentleyville), 385.

The second half race will begin on Friday. The final first half standings show Bentleyville, 29-16; 26-19; and Charleroi, 7-38.

Paul Hornung to Speak at Affair On January 13

Paul Hornung, Notre Dame's celebrated quarterback, will be one of the guest speakers at Holy Name banquet in Twin Coaches on Sunday, January 13.

The affair will be sponsored by District Six, of the Greensburg Diocese, on the first Holy Name Sunday of the New Year.

Hornung, the quarterback choice on practically every All-American team the past two seasons, also won the coveted Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college player of the year. It was the first time in history that a member of a team, beaten eight times during the season, was picked for the Heisman honor.

The talented Notre Dame signal-caller was also the bonus draft selection of the Green Bay Packers professional football team, another testimonial to his playing ability. Hornung is from Louisville, Kentucky, where he played both football and baseketball for Flaget High School.

Officers of Holy Name Societies throughout the area have tickets for the affair. A complete banquet will be announced later.

Iowa Most Impressive Winner; Bitter Fist Fight in Sugar Bowl

By UNITED PRESS

A total of 348,678 on-the-spot fans and millions of televi got their money's worth from bowl games on New Year's Da the consensus today was that the Cotton and Orange provide most thrills, the Sugar the biggest surprise, and the Rose the most impressive winner.

From locker-room oratory to a bitter fist-fight, this year's football "classics" had everything a fan could ever expect.

It had chills aplenty in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex., as chuckin' Chuck Curtis led Texas Christian to a 28-27 victory over eastern champion Syracuse, despite three touchdowns and three conversions by hard-hitting Jimmy Brown. And in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., where Colorado blew a 20-point lead before nipping Clemson, 27-21.

Sugar Outcome "Stunning"

It had a "stunner" in the Sugar Bowl when Del Shofner led Baylor in a 13-7 upset of unbeaten, untied Tennessee, rated the nation's No. 2 team in the regular season.

And it had an awesome 35-19 victory by Iowa over Oregon State in the second highest-scoring Rose Bowl game in history at Pasadena, Calif.—marking the 10th time in the last 11 years that Big Ten teams have whipped Pacific Coast Conference foes in the "granddaddy" of all bowls.

TCU's Curtis, a young man bitterly disappointed a year ago when he was injured on the opening kickoff of the Cotton Bowl game and taken out, made up for that brilliantly as he hit 10 of 13 passes for 142 yards and two touchdowns against Syracuse. The 219-pound Brown slammed for 135 yards and three touchdowns on the ground and was named the game's outstanding player.

TCU jumped ahead, 14-0, only to have Syracuse tie at halftime, 14-14. Then the Horned Frogs went ahead again, 28-14. Again Syracuse fought back with two more touchdowns. But the third of Brown's four conversion attempts was blocked by sub end Chico Mendoza, and that eventually proved the game.

At Miami, promoters and fans feared a debacle as Colorado led sluggish Clemson at halftime, 20-0. But tobacco-chewing Clemson Coach Frank Howard told his men at halftime he'd "resign" if they didn't do better.

Clemson Rallies, Not Enough

Result: Clemson battled back to lead, 21-20, and Colorado had to drive 53 yards for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter with John (The Beast) Bayuk slamming over for his second TD. Bayuk, the game's top player, gained 121 yards.

Before 81,000 at the Sugar Bowl, Shofner of Baylor ran 54 yards to set up the Bears' first TD in the second period on a pass by Bobby Jones. Johnny Majors of Tennessee countered with a Tennessee touchdown on a one-yard sweep around end for a 7-6 lead, but All-America Majors proved a goat in the fourth period when his fumble gave Baylor the ball on the Vols' 15. Six plays later Buddy Humphrey of Baylor bulled one yard for the winning score.

Punches marred the Sugar Bowl game in the third period. Soph Larry Hickman of Baylor was ejected from the game and Bruce

Bruins Stay in Thick of Race

By UNITED PRESS

The Boston Bruins made it plain today that they intend staying in the National Hockey League race all the way.

The fast-starting Bruins were supposed to be all but collapsing by this stage of the race but they're back in front after a 5-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

The victory vaulted the Bruins past the idle Detroit Red Wings into first place and left them three points ahead of the third-place Montreal Canadiens, who swamped the Chicago Black Hawks, 6-2, in the other game Tuesday night.

BOWLING

By JOE JANNOTTA

"Is is possible to spot bowl without Range Finders?" That's a question often asked of me.

The answer is definitely yes. I have perfected a system of my own which might interest you.

As usual much depends on your delivery. Your delivery and spot should not be more than two feet from the foul line.

Alley Conditions

Alley conditions will determine whether you should move closer to the foul line.

Picking your spot on alleys without markers is not nearly as hard as you might suspect. You will recall in an earlier column that we discussed the composition of alleys. In next Friday's column we will apply this lesson to spot bowling.

City League Cage Action Resumes

Another triple-header program tomorrow will conclude first round activity. In that lineups, the Cro-Ams will take on Big Five at 7, Ozarks will tangle with East End at 8, and Fuocos will square off with the Yellow Jackets at 9.

Sugar Ray Risks Crown Tonight

Faces Rugged Gene Fullmer in Bout at Madison Square Garden

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, 35, risks his middleweight crown at Madison Square Garden tonight against brawny young Gene Fullmer, the most dangerous opponent since the old master came out of retirement.

Stocky, bull-necked Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is a slight favorite at 13-10 because of his youthful, headlong aggressiveness and because he never was stopped in 40 fights.

However, increasing support for the once-great champion may send them into the ring at even money for their age-vs.-youth battle. Previously, the 25-year-old apprentice welder from a Utah copper mine had been favored as high as 9-5.

Their 15-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EST, with TV blackouts in the New York and Philadelphia areas.

Contestants' Second Date

Promoter Jim Norris said an advance sale of $100,000 indicated a gate of $150,000 and a crowd of about 15,000. In addition, the TV-radio package provides $100,000. This intriguing fight probably would have been a $225,000 sellout had it been staged on Dec. 12—well away from the holidays—as originally scheduled. But Robinson's virus attack necessitated a postponement.

Robinson — the only man that ever gave up two world titles (the welterweight and middleweight) and the only one that ever won the middleweight crown three times — admitted after Tuesday's exercises and rubdown: "I'm not as fast as I used to be, but I'm punching a lot harder."

Robinson has knocked out 90 of his 146 opponents. He lost only three decisions and was stopped once, the night he collapsed in 104 degree heat while trying to wrest the light heavyweight title from Joey Maxim.

The slender champion apparently is much harder than muscular Gene, who registered 20 kayoes in his 40 fights and lost but three times, all on decisions. But whether Ray can hit hard enough to tag rugged Gene with his first knockout defeat is a big question of the fight.

In addition to punch, Ray has advantages of experience, skill, height and reach over the challenger, who is attempting his first 15-round bout and who never fought a major opponent wearing the small, six-ounce gloves.

Fullmer, who was named after Gene Tunney, has advantages of youth, superior body attack, remarkable ruggedness and apparently unusual stamina.

Fullmer After Sixth Straight

Eager Gene seeks his sixth straight victory. He won five fights in 1956 including decisions over Rocky Castellani, who had Robinson on the deck in a comeback fight and Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who beat Robinson in a comeback fight before Ray recaptured the title.

It will be Robinson's 10th fight since he returned to the ring after two years of retirement. And it will be his second defense of the 160-pound crown that he recaptured for the second time on a second-round knockout over Bobo Olson, Dec. 9, 1955. In his first defense he belted out Olson in the fourth round, last May 18.

Win or lose, Robinson gets a lopsided share of the loot tonight. He receives 47½ per cent of the net gate and $60,000 from the TV-radio money. Fullmer draws only 12½ per cent of the net gate and nothing from TV-radio.

Brown-haired Gene, sometimes called "The Deacon," is a strict Mormon, who never tasted tobacco, alcohol or coffee. His father, Lawrence "Tuff" Fullmer, a former amateur boxer, gave Gene his first boxing gloves at the age of six. And he has been tossing leather ever since—toward the big goal tonight.

District Quints Face Difficult Cage Assignments

By UNITED PRESS

Duquesne, Pitt and Penn State—back from holiday basketball tourney play — open the New Year with one-night stands this week.

The Dukes travel to Dayton, Ohio, Thursday for a rematch of their 88-45 drubbing by the Flyers in the Bluegrass Festival. They meet the University of Cincinnati on Saturday to close out the Ohio swing.

Pitt plays host to Lafayette at Memorial Field House Saturday night. The meeting will give senior Bob Lazor a chance to extend his career total of 955 points which already is a new mark for the Pitt record books. The 6-6 center from Canonsburg, Pa., has broken the 919 points career record set by Ed Pavlick during the 1952-55 seasons.

In another Saturday night game, Penn State travels to Carnegie Tech for a re-match of its season's opener. The Lions had little trouble topping the Tartans, 80-51, at University Park.

Gannon takes on Creighton at Erie tonight.

Novel Golf Course Within Walls of Fort

By OSCAR FRALEY

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UP)— The snowbird golfers scuffing up the living room rug would eat their hearts out even more today if they could get one look at the world's most unusual golf course.

It's not too big, seeming almost to have been designed for the world's largest midget. But it has a setting — inside the towering milkweed walls of 425-year-old Fort El Morro — which is unmatched anywhere.

El Morro was built by the Spanish in 1531 and, at various times through the centuries, it has been attacked by such as Sir Francis Drake, countless pirates and the armies of several nations.

Now it is being cannonaded again — by golf balls. For after the U.S. Army moved in and took over, the Yanks put in a golf course. What they have come up with has to be the most unique links layout of them all.

Nestle In Embrasures

Sand greens nestle into embrasures which once cradled cannon. Two holes are in the castle moat and the walls are pitted with the marks of more golf shots than rifle shots.

This has to be the spot where they train our infantrymen. Because four parallel holes use the same fairway while another hole cuts right across the four-hole fairway. The second hole, 110 yards uphill against the castle wall, is one where you drop the ball into the moat. There it rebounds from one wall to the other and is even money to wind up on the sand green, where the caddy will smooth your putting surface by dragging a grass mat across your line.

The third hole runs down the dog-leg moat and you can play your shot over a bridge or under its arch.

On the next one, a 480-yard hole, your tee shot has to clear the 30-foot fail of the moat which is within 80 yards of the tee. Slicers ricochet their ball off the castle wall, which converts it into a wall, which converts it into a hook.

On the 130-yard seventh, if you're too strong, your ball clears the parapet and lands 100 feet below in a cemetery filled with stone angels. Ball hawks will toss it back for a dime.

And, on the ninth, body english isn't allowed on the tee. If you back up too far, there's a 75-foot drop into the blue-green waters of the Atlantic because you're hitting your drive from the top of the every hole is so scenic and so strange that you even forget to cuss your bad shots.

Kanada was a celebrated thinker of ancient India and founder of a special school.

Section Five's Longest Win Streak Appears to Be Doomed

The longest winning streak in Section 5 basketball history appears doomed this season.

Coach Frank Janosik's Monessen Greyhounds own the coveted record, having won 34 straight sectional matches.

The Hounds haven't been topped in valley play since 1953 when Charleroi earned a 54-42 verdict.

The consensus of experts is that the streak will come to an end sometime during the current campaign. Just when isn't exactly agreed upon.

There are those who feel the Hounds may be dumped as early as this Friday when they play host to a hot-and-cold Brownsville team.

Not Sure Bets

The reasoning is that Monessen is not good enough this year to win on bad nights. Thus an off-shooting performance could prove disastrous against any valley rival. Unlike former years, the Hounds will NOT be sure-bets in any of their games this season.

One of Monessen's toughest tests will occur next Tuesday when the Hounds play at Bellmar. The cramped Hurricane gym will loom as a big obstacle to the "pint-sized" Monessen boys.

If the Hounds do squeak by their opening sectional assignments, they are supposed to give up their long streak by January 22. That's when Charleroi visits the MHS gym. The Cougars are heavy favorites to finish atop the Section 5 race this season.

Monessen will take a 5-4 record into the current campaign. That slate is somewhat misleading, since the Hounds play only the finest opposition available. Two of the losses were tagged on by McKeesport, while Ford City and Johnstown accounted for the other red marks.

On the black side of the ledger are success over teams like Farrell, Uniontown, Aliquippa, Duquesne and Greensburg.

Tough at Times

Thus it would appear that Monessen will be tough at times, too. With a little luck the winning streak figures to be extended a few games, at least.

While posting their 34 straight sectional triumphs, the Hounds were seldom challenged. Oddly enough, three of the valley's lesser regarded teams came closest to upsetting Monessen.

In 1955, Monongahela and Brownsville and California lost eyeiash decisions.

The current Section 5 race will open Friday with Brownsville at Monessen, Bellmar at California and Monongahela at Donora.

In Section 10, Dunbar will be at Rostraver, Derry Twp. at Scottdale and Hurst at Ramsay.

The Section 17 program will feature Sewickley at East Huntingdon, Perryopolis at Irwin and South Huntingdon at West Newton.

Junior High competition will start next week. However two exhibitions are scheduled in the district before then.

Tomorrow, Rostraver will play host to California while on Friday Vernon will play host to Elizabeth.

Palazzi Sparks Syracuse to Win Over NY Knicks

By UNITED PRESS

The Syracuse Nationals received a "shot in the arm" today from the player the Boston Celtics couldn't use when they acquired Bill Russell.

Togo Palazzi, the ex-Holy Cross star making his debut for Syracuse, scored 10 points in the final six minutes to give the Nationals a 106-102 victory over the New York Knickerbockers Tuesday night. The Knicks led, 91-81, when Palazzi entered the game.

Palazzi tallied six points in 30 seconds and two minutes later scored the goal that tied the game at 94-94. With a key defensive play by Togo a big factor, the Nationals soon pulled away to 100-94. They now trail the third-place Knicks by two games in the Eastern Division of the NBA.

Tom Heinsohn and the 6-10 Russell were the stars as the first-place Celtics whipped the Philadelphia Warriors, 100-87, and the Rochester Royals nipped the St. Louis Hawks, 102-101, in overtime in other games.

Heinsohn scored 30 points while Russell tallied 17 and grabed 25 rebounds for the Celtics, who have won five straight and six of eight games since Russell joined the team.

Fight for AHL Playoff Spot

By UNITED PRESS

The four-team fight for first place that marked the first two months of the American Hockey League season has developed into a three-way struggle for the last playoff spots.

A seven-game win streak by Providence and a three-game streak by Hershey have carried those teams far ahead of the pack. Providence, in first place, drew a 2-2 overtime tie with Rochester Tuesday night while the Bears defeated Cleveland, 5-4.

Cleveland, which has lost four straight games, is in third place one point ahead of Buffalo and two ahead of Rochester. Buffalo lost to Springfield, 3-1.

Two late goals by Dunc Fisher and Al Nicholson enabled Hershey to overcome a Cleveland lead.

In World War II aircraft radio receivers had from six to 20 channels. Now they have more than 1,000 channels.

Providence Ace Is Top Scorer

NEW YORK (UP)—Paul Larivee of the Providence Reds scort nine points during the week ending Sunday to take over first place in the American Hockey League's race for individual scoring honors.

Cleveland's Bo Elik, who had led the league for 10 straight weeks, dropped to second place with a total of 52 points, four less than Larivee.

The Reds' Camille Henry was fifth with 44 points but he led the circuit in goals scored with 29.

Hershey's Larry Zeidel was the most penalized player with a total of 112 minutes and Johnny Bower of the Providence Reds scored tending lead to an average of 2.54 on 66 goals allowed in 26 games.

Dodgers Face Cuts in Pays

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (UP)—Roy Campanella, Carl Erskine and Duke Snider head a list of Brooklyn Dodger stars who probably will be asked to accept 1957 salary cuts. Buzzy Bavasi, Dodger vice-president in charge of personnel says the Dodger payroll has reached a "saturation" point and cannot be raised past its present peak.

Hungarians Near New Peaks of Desperation

VIENNA (UP)— Mass firings by the Soviet-imposed Hungarian regime may touch off renewed armed resistance and a fresh exodus of refugees to the West, observers said today.

Reports from Budapest indicated Hungarians were nearing new peaks of desperation, faced with the prospects of unemployment, hunger, cold and Communist oppression.

Isolated gunfire was heard in Budapest at the beginning of the "black New Year" for Hungarians. Thousands of citizens openly defied the curfew imposed under martial law and Soviet and Hungarian patrols to walk the streets of the capital during the night.

Nearly 250,000 Hungarians automatically lost their jobs by government decree New Year's Day More than 200,000 industrial employes and 38,000 government workers were fired as part of the Janos Kadar regime's economy drive.

Industry has been paralyzed for weeks by the power shortage resulting from the lack of fuel supplies And there was no indication of any early improvement in the situation in the coal mines

Rather than wait for the government to "draft them for work in the mines observers said thousands of jobless Hungarians may risk everything to reach freedom in Austria More than 150,000 Hungarians already have fled their stricken homeland

More Fighting Possible

Observers said it was possible that the withdrawal of Soviet tanks from strategic sectors in downtown Budapest might encourage new armed protests

There was considerable speculation here on the long-delayed statement by Kadar on his government's economic and political policies The statement was first expected Christmas and then again New Year's But Kadar remained silent Reports from Budapest noted that he failed to attend a New Year's Day reception given by President Istvan Dobi

Western observers said it was possible that Kadar may have gone to Moscow for conferences with the men in the Kremlin The Russians were reported to be growing increasingly impatient with their puppet premier's failure to win popular support

Russians Blast Tito

MOSCOR (UP) — Two Soviet publications blasted Yugoslav President Tito today and one said reports he is planning a trip to the United States has aroused "concern."

The war of words between Belgrade and Moscow livened up with separate attacks on Tito and Vice President Edward Kardelj by the weekly New Times and by the Communist Party's top theoretical magazine, Kommunist.

The New Times accused Yugoslavia of playing into the hands of imperialists who are using the slogan "national Communism" to split East Europe and Communist parties all over the world from the Soviet Union.

"That is precisely why imperialist circles with such joy snatch up the slogan advanced by comrade Tito of "independence" for socialist countries and Communist parties from the Soviet Union and the Soviet Communist party," New Times said.

The New Times said reports of Tito's possible visit to Washington had aroused "concern" among Soviet opinion "which cannot remain silent at the beginning of a new round of flirtation between the imperialist forces and Yugoslavia."

The Kommunist limited its attacks to Kardelj and his Dec. 7 speech to the Yugoslav Parliament in which he criticized Soviet policy in Hungary and engaged in a theological dispute with the Russians.

The long analysis of the speech by Kommunist called it "full of contradictions" and said it was "absurd" and "reactionary" and "helpful to our class enemies."

Winter Weather In North

By UNITED PRESS

A cold wave gripped northern sections of the nation from the Rockies to New England today and pushed southeastward toward the Gulf Coast and northern Florida.

Snow squalls hit most of Michigan, the northern sections of Indiana and Ohio and reached near blizzard proportions during the night in western portions of New York state. Brisk winds caused some drifting and made driving hazardous.

Below zero readings were common in much of Minnesota, Wisconsin and parts of New England, with temperatures plunging to 15 degrees below zero at both International Falls, Minn., and Lebana, N.H.

Carolinas Cold

Overnight readings in the low 30s were reported as far south as South Carolina and westward into the northern sections of the Gulf states. Temperatures in the teens occurred from the mid-Mississippi Valley through the mid-Atlantic Coastal states.

However, a warming trend edged into the Great Basin and western portions of the Dakotas and Nebraska. Weathermen said the warming trend will move into the Great Lakes area during the day.

A disturbance in the Pacific Northwest brought light amounts of rainfall over that area and as far east as northern Idaho.

Weathermen said snow flurries will continue during the day from the northern Rockies eastward along the Canadian border to the Plains and in areas just south of the Great Lakes.

Bulldozer Is Home Wrecker

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)— Mrs. Vaughn Griffin described today how she watched a 20-ton driverless bulldozer roar down on her two-family house and demolish the apartment next door.

It smashed into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, who were not at home, on Monday. It went through the bedroom, utility room, kitchen and livingroom, ploughing under furniture, doors and walls.

The giant machine apparently had been started by a group of boys who found it unattended. It left only a Christmas tree standing in the living room.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs Marie Spera, who died three years ago today, January 2, 1954.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
And still the vacant chair,
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way.
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Anna Kott, who died 20 years ago today, January 2, 1937.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Anna Nestor Lombardo, who died four years ago today, January 2, 1953.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be
But in some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife.
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.
Sadly missed by Husband, Son and Daughter-in-law

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Mrs Anna Kurtak Fedarko, who died 21 years ago today, January 2, 1936.
We live today with memories
Of days when you were here.
We miss you still and always will
Throughout each day and year.
At night when all is silent
And sleep forsakes our eyes
Our thoughts are in that lonely grave
Where our dear loved one lies.
Sadly missed by Parents, Sisters and Brothers

State Traffic Record Good Over Holidays

By UNITED PRESS

Pennsylvania off to a bad start, in the holiday traffic fatality count, closed out the old year and greeted in the new with a good safety performance.

After leading the states in the highway death count at the opening of the four-day holiday period, Pennsylvania settled down to record a fatality-free last day of 1956 and a relatively low toll for the first day of 1957.

A United Press survey showed 24 persons were killed in traffic mishaps from 6 p m Friday until midnight Tuesday. Twenty of the fatalities were recorded in the first half of the 102-hour period.

The high early count pushed the New Year's total beyond the 21 deaths recorded on the state's roadways during the four - day Christmas holiday which set a slaughter record for the nation.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, as during the Christmas holiday, did not record a single fatality in the New Year's weekend, despite snow and ice which made driving hazardous from the Ohio line to Bedford and forced officials to reduce the speed limit to 35 miles an hour for half the length of the highway.

State police said constant safety warnings and the impact of the record Christmas slaughter Commotorists helped achieve the perfect New Year's Eve performance and the low New Year's Day toll.

The New Year's Day fatalities:

Beaver Falls: S P Bohlman, 58, Beaver Falls, was killed in a two-car collision at a street intersection here. Police said the driver of the other vehicle, Donald Wilcox, 21, New Brighton RD 1, drove through a red light. He was held on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Indiana: Kenneth Rager, 21, Commodore, suffered fatal injuries when his automobile crashed on Route 80 near Hillsdale, about 12 miles northeast of here in Indiana County.

Reading: Mrs Stella Kershner, 46, Mohrsville, died in a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 83 and Prison Rd. in Bern Twp. north of here. Her husband John 44, and three other persons were injured in the wreck.

York: John D. Fickinger, 52 Duncannon RD 1 was killed six miles north of here when his truck loaded with wood pulp swerved off the Susquenanna Trail and upset

Janos Kadar Snubbed

By JACK MEEHAN

BUDAPEST (UP)—Diplomats of Soviet satellites and several neutral nations paid their respects to Hungarian President Istvan Dobi Tuesday under the watchful eye of a Russian machine-gunner.

But the United States, Britain and France snubbed the first major reception for foreign diplomats since Janos Kadar seized leadership of the Communist government from Imre Nagy.

A Soviet armored car discreetly tucked away in a side street trained a large-caliber machine-gun on the Parliament buildings as a string of cars bearing visiting diplomats swept across the snow-covered square.

The snub by the Big Three Western powers was considered a slap in the face for the Kadar regime because the reception technically was only for Dobi, a member of the Smallholders Party who has been president since 1948.

According to the rules of protocol, the reception had nothing to do with Kadar. However, the U.S., British and French missions apparently stayed away as an indication of their disapproval of the regime that ousted Nagy and called in the Russian army to crush the Hungarian revolt.

This correspondent went to the party uninvited, walking past the machinegun - bearing car and through the iron doors of the parliament building.

I was the only American present. A civilian official denied me permission to take pictures. "But you are free to look around," he added.

Feminine Warmth

PASADENA, Calif. (UP)—Some observers know today how one of the princesses in Tuesday's Tournament of Roses parade managed to keep warm although wearing only a light-weight gown during the nippy morning hours. They spotted red flannel long underwear beneath the gown.

Scientists Seeking Way To Fight Fatal Shock

By H.N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

There's a screeching of tires and a terrific impact. Two autos have collided and both are badly damaged.

You run toward the wreck expecting to find all the occupants of both cars dead or dying. But they aren't. Many of them have survived the accident because they have been conditioned to resist a state of severe shock.

Right now this is an imaginary incident. It is not something which can occur today or even tomorrow. But it might be a glimpse into the not-too-distant future, for scientists are seeking to determine whether humans can be rendered shock-resistant. And there's hope that they can.

Laboratory tests have made rats so shock-resistant that only 25 per cent of them succumbed to injuries which normally would have been fatal to 75 per cent.

Army scientists used two methods to fortify rats against injuries that otherwise would prove fatal.

In one series of tests, the rats developed resistance by inflicting a series of small, non-fatal injuries. In other experiments, they were given a series of electric shocks, one each day for several days. This series, similar to shocks used in electroshock therapy for psychiatric cases, also produced resistance to injury.

When either a human or an animal suffers an injury or is faced with a "fight or flight" situation (we've talked about this many times before) some dramatic changes automatically take place in nervous system activity.

Activity of the sympathetic nerves — here's the apparent key to the whole thing — causes changes in heart function, blood pressure and the flow of blood to various organs. In addition, the hormones z adrenalin and noradrenalin are released into the blood.

In the case of shock, there is a prolonged high level of the sympathetic nervous system which mmght hasten death. In animals, drugs have been used to cone down this action and help them to withstand shock.

Experiments show that rats release less adrenalin and noradrenalin when confronted with stress if they have first been conditioned by a series of electric shocks or slight injuries. This certainly seems to indicate a less violent reaction in their sympathetic nervous systems.

Scientists aren't ready to experiment with humans yet, but we may be well on the way to combating fatal shock.

Question and Answer

W.R.: Can drinking water with a meal cause gas?

Answer: No, not unless a great deal of air is swallowed along with the water.

Alaskan Quake Is Recorded

HONOLULU (UP) — A heavy earthquake in the Gulf of Alaska touched off a tidal wave alert in Hawaii Tuesday.

The University of California at Berkeley recorded three distinct quakes "which could have done great damage" if they occurred in inhabited areas.

They began recording here at 9:17 p.m. EST. A spokesman said they were "strong enough to make the tidal wave alarm system clang like mad."

The tidal wave alert was called off when reports from Fairbanks and Sitka, Alaska, and the Philippines indicated no unusual change in tides.

Child Dies of Exposure from Night in Desert

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE Calif. (UP)—The Air Force today extended its sympathy to the parents of a three-year-old boy who died of exposure in below-freezing temperatures after becoming lost over night in the desert.

Helicopter pilot Maj. Jones Seigler early Tuesday spotted the lightly-clad body of Bill Ray Tyree in a sagebrush and sand area less than two miles from this base's main gate. Standing guard beside the boy's body was his uncle's pet cocker spaniel

More than 1,000 airmen and civilians had combed the desert in temperatures that dropped to 28 degrees

Billy Ray and the dog apparently wandered away from the base housing project Monday afternoon.

The boy, son of an airman stationed here, was dressed in a T-shirt, blue jeans and shoes and socks when he made his fatal trek into the desert surrounding this large base. Doctors said the bitter cold was more than the boy could stand and he probably died sometime during the early morning hours.
